Crataegus viridis 'Winter King' - Winter King Hawthorn
Winter King Hawthorn is a lovely rounded tree with vase-shaped branching, distinct gray stems, and four season appeal. Brilliant red fruit persist throughout winter and are among the handsomest of all hawthorns. Lustrous green foliage in summer changes to purple and scarlet in autumn, and, in spring, branches are covered in a profusion of white flowers. View these Winter King Hawthorns in full winter glory located on the west side of Oriental Institute.

Yucca filamentosa 'Golden Sword' - Golden Sword Yucca
Golden Sword Yucca is a low evergreen shrub, in the Agavaceae family, with stiffly erect and spreading leaves. Besides the year round brightly colored foliage its real attraction occurs in summer when flowering. Lightly fragrant, pendulous, creamy white flowers occur on a 3' tall panicle of racemes. Check out yucca (both the straight species and variegated forms) in the following gardens: North Winter Garden – located between 59th St. & Midway Plaisance North and Ellis Ave. & Woodlawn Ave, Hull Court, and Ellis Avenue Parking Garage.

Miscanthus sinensis 'Gracillimus' - Maiden Grass
Eupatorium maculatum 'Gateway' - Joe Pye Weed
Dried seed heads of Miscanthus and Eupatorium dance in the wintery wind in the Kramer Beds on the Main Quad.

Eucalyptus sp. - Silver Bells Eucalyptus
Tucked amongst the evergreen boughs you’ll find small waxy, whitish-blue eucalyptus seed pods in the winter seasonal displays. Find these fun accent pieces in the freestanding planters throughout campus.
